

Each year, Recherche et Formation Marie Haps asbl (RFMH) provides evening and Saturday language courses to over 2500 students. It employs 70 native-speaker teachers in charge of around 130 different courses. Each of the 20 languages on offer (French, English, Dutch, German, Turkish, Polish, Russian, Greek, ...) is taught on the basis of the Common European Framework of Reference for Languages.

Regarding Greek classes, RFMH organises 7 levels (A1, A2, B1, B2, B3, B4, C1) for some 120 students. Since 1999, RFMH has also been an official Examination Centre for the Greek Language Certificate awarded by the Greek State (RFMH is actually the only Belgian centre offering the four levels of examination recognised by the Greek Language Centre of the Greek Ministry of Education).

RFMH is linked to Institut Libre Marie Haps which provides training to translators and interpreters, psychologists, speech therapists and audiologists.
